ORCSD Bus Drivers Proposal to Take Buses Home:
Oyster River Bus Drivers and administrators have analyzed the current practice of keeping all buses at the bus garage. This calculation has shown that it is costing the District taxpayers more to have buses housed in one location at the bus garage. Aspects that contribute to this cost include, paid preparation time and the potential for overtime as a result of prep time for some drivers, miles driven without students, and the number of yard mechanics needed for summer maintenance and storms, plowing and electricity costs. These factors are weighed against the additional miles that would be accumulated if drivers were allowed to take their buses home. The Superintendent and the Business Administrator have reviewed the following figures and believe them to be an accurate representation of costs associated with centralized parking of buses.
When buses are housed in a single location, the District pays a prep time costs that was never paid before the centralized parking of buses. Drivers are provided 15 to 60 minutes daily at District expense to insure buses are ready to run. To calculate the cost of this item; 30 minutes was used and the result was a cost to the District of $30,206. A survey of twenty eight drivers was completed with eighteen drivers wanting the privilege of taking their bus home. The District calculates the hours of prep time for these eighteen drivers at 2,013.75 hours which results in $30,206 in savings.

Al Howland moved to approve a pilot bus driver take buses home program that runs through the end of the school year, 2nd by Kenny Rotner. Motion approved 7-0 with the Student Representative voting in the affirmative.

Instructional Needs of Students with Different Talents

The Oyster River Cooperative School Board, in its continuing search for ways to extend and improve the learning experiences of children under the umbrella of individualized instruction, recognizes that all students have different interests and talents. The school district, therefore, reaffirms its commitment to provide for the uniqueness of individual talents and potential, and to meet the academic, emotional, physical, and social needs of each student.

Consistent with the district’s goals, the schools endeavor to foster in their students:

1) an excitement for learning,
2) self-discipline in pursuing a task,
3) competence in communicating new information and ideas,
4) the ability to explore and develop alternative hypotheses, strategies, and solutions to a problem, and
5) a sense of self-determination and awareness of their own strengths and needs.

Administrators, and teachers, and counselors should-will collaborate to consider and address students’ different talents, interests and academic development when planning the district’s educational programs and curriculum.

In order to meet the instructional needs of students with different talents, administrators and staff should explore alternative learning programs such as extended learning opportunities, alternative learning plans, distance education, vocational/technical education, and others.

Curriculum Maps & Scope & Sequences Guides

Curriculum guides shall be provided developed for the various subject areas. These guides shall present at least a minimal outline for instruction which will include the scope and sequence and a basis for future development of the particular course.

The guides shall be designed to assist all users in strengthening and in clarifying their philosophy regarding the teaching of a subject and will, when possible, suggest a variety of possibilities for instruction, patterns of individualization, and variations of approaches and materials.

1) Development of Guides:
   a) Curriculum guides should be initially developed by the staff and teachers who are to use them.
   b) Where entire staff participation is not feasible, a system of representatives of staff and/or departments concerned shall form committees for study, creation, and revision of any particular guide.
   c) When work is completed on a guide, the committee responsible for its development shall present it through the office of the superintendent.

2) Use of the Guides Curriculum Maps:
   a) Curriculum guides are to serve as a framework from which a teacher will develop units of study, individual lesson plans, and approaches to instruction which will serve the pupils' particular needs at a particular time. The guides shall be used to map the logical sequence of instruction.
   b) The principal is responsible for monitoring optimum use of available curriculum guides.
CURRICULUM DEVELOPMENT

Curriculum Guides Maps will be developed for all courses and will contain the following three parts:

1) A listing of the instructional standards and/or competencies of the course consistent with the goal of continuous progress and stated as far as possible in measurable behavior.

2) A suggested method of assessment for stated instructional standards/competencies in order to measure when and to what degree learning has been accomplished.

3) Suggested learning activities such as workbook pages, selected readings, activity cards, games, etc. to accompany each objective.

The board recognizes that curriculum is not static and, therefore, expects that curriculum guides will be updated on a regular basis ensuring alignment with standards adopted by the New Hampshire Department of Education.

Copies of all relevant guidelines will be on file in the Central office, District web-site, principal's office, and as appropriate the school library.

CAREER EDUCATION

The Oyster River Cooperative School Board embraces the concept that career education is the totality of learning experiences through which a person learns about and prepares to engage in work as part of her or his way of living. Such education should start in early childhood and continue throughout a person’s life. It may be viewed as consisting of the following phases: a) career awareness, b) career exploration, c) career decision making, d) career preparation, e) career guidance and counseling, and f) career placement, follow-up, and advancement.

The board believes that the district should develop career education programs that provide experiences, occupational preparation, and services that will assist individuals to develop an understanding of the world of work, make decisions about careers, prepare for them, find them, and advance in them. Students should be encouraged to pursue their passions. For example:

1) Career awareness should be woven into early childhood and elementary school programs to develop and enlarge children’s understandings of the working world, to promote a positive attitude about the personal and social significance of work, and to help children think about their own interests and abilities and aspirations. Only after children develop self-awareness can they begin to think about themselves in relation to work and careers.

2) Career exploration should begin in the middle school. Students should be provided with information about careers and some first-hand experiences in the world of work. Learning experiences should include examination of careers, observation of work, and actual work experiences; and then evaluation by the individual of his or her own interests, abilities, and aptitudes in relation to these experiences.

3) Career decision making begins to taking place at the high school level when the student has examined the career information and experiences provided and has considered them in the context of his/her own values, interests, abilities, and aptitudes. At this time students should feel ready to make some tentative choices and consider alternatives as to their career and/or career area. Students should be prepared to move more deeply into their career choice and to leave the school system for entry into a program of further education and training or with an entry level employment skill. This can be accomplished through various educational programs and occupational/vocational training. Students should be given an opportunity to participate in work study, internships, and job shadowing experience programs designed to give on the job training and/or career awareness.

4) Career preparation begins in high school. Students should be prepared to move more deeply into their career choice and to leave the school system for entry into a program of further education and training or with an entry level employment skill. This can be accomplished through various educational programs and occupational/vocational training. Students should be given an opportunity to participate in work study experience programs designed to give on the job training.

5-4) Career guidance and counseling should be an ongoing part of career education in order to give adequate assistance to students involved in making a decision about careers. Counseling should help the student combine knowledge of self, a knowledge of work opportunities, and a knowledge of alternatives for education and training. Career guidance should involve the participation of teachers, professional counselors, and parents.

6.5) Career placement, follow-up, and advancement are critical in career education. Along with the traditional function of guidance school counselors in placing students in colleges, job placement services should be provided for students who desire either part-time employment while attending school or full-time employment after graduation. Efforts must be made to follow-up our students to discover how well their schooling has served them in their jobs and career preparation. Through adult programs, the schools should provide retraining and career advancement, for advances in technology continually require new skills and society continually demands new services. We can only make guesses about job needs in the future -- but change is certain. Therefore, students should be encouraged to view career education as a lifelong process requiring continued study and training.

Realizing that there must be a cooperative effort between the schools and community, the board supports the establishment of career education advisory committees consisting of school and community leaders and the involvement of community resource persons at all school levels.
